

To Whom it may concern,

I'm tired of the good old boys, ie. cable operators and now radio broadcasters trying to limit or destroy what they are unable or unwilling to compete against. Our capitalistic society strives on someone continually inventing a better technology or way of doing business than the other guy!

First it was the cable industry trying to limit Sat. TV and now it's NAB! Where does it end? If you allow these uncreative broadcasters to succeed in limiting new technology like Sat. radio and TV it will be unAmerican not to mention unfair. Tell Nab and the Cable guys they have the freedom to compete if they dare.

I'm a big fan of Sat. TV and Sat. Radio and I,m totally against any constraints that you and the good ole boys might want to place on them. Why should you give Nab and Cable an unfair advantage? It's unAmerican and shame on you for even considering doing so!

William Cothran